Since its charter on April 17, 1922, the Montclair Rotary Club was destined to be one of the great clubs in Rotary. Currently the club has 35 members, making significant contributions to the community through their unique skills, talents, expertise and interests.

Annual fundraisers enable the Montclair Rotary Club to offer charitable assistance to organizations in need and to perform numerous service projects that enhance the quality of life in the Montclair and Verona communities.

The Montclair Rotary Club's membership is varied with representation from men and women from diversified business and professional vocations as well as retirees. We are non-sectarian and have no political affiliation. In its leadership role as a service organization, the Montclair Rotary Club extends membership to people who will voluntarily and willingly dedicate themselves to the ideals of Rotary International, and a commitment to "Service Above Self".

Rotarians' lives are guided by the 4-Way Test in all of their actions:

Is it the truth?
Is it fair to all concerned?
Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

A Century of Service

In the early 1900's, Paul Harris, a young lawyer in Chicago, frequently met after hours with colleagues and other professionals to discuss the issues and concerns of the times.

A man of vision, he recognized the benefit of formalizing the meetings so the group could share in the knowledge and solutions each member could offer.

The first meeting of the Rotary Club of Chicago was held February 23, 1905. It was named the "Rotary Club" because meetings were rotated at members' places of business. Membership grew rapidly and soon the Rotarians could no longer meet in business offices. So, they gathered once a week, as Rotarians do today at breakfast, lunch and dinner meetings.

The first Rotary Club was the nucleus from which thousands of additional Rotary Clubs have organized around the world. Today, weekly meetings are held by more than 30,000 Rotary Clubs with approximately 1.2 million members in more than 163 countries.

Rotary remains the world's first and foremost service club. It continues its long tradition of offering business and professional people the opportunity to provide service to meet special needs in local, national and international communities.

Rotarians remain steadfast in their commitment to provide humanitarian service, to promote high ethical standards in all vocations, to build goodwill, to share in fellowship and to work for peace throughout the world.
